

CASE STUDY 021

[Machine Learning: R]

Insurance claims

Here are some clues in case you are stuck with the case study:

1. Use the randomForest package to build your random forest classifier
2. Use the predict function to use the model to predict results
3. The Confusion matrix details the actual result and the model's prediction for each observation. See Super Data Science tutorials for more information